Orientalism is a 1978 book by Edward W. Said, in which the author established "Orientalism" as a concept to describe the West's depiction and portrayal of "The East" in a contemptuous manner through the years. These societies and peoples are those who inhabit the places of Asia, North Africa, and the Middle East. Said argued that Orientalism, in the sense of the Western scholarship about the ...

Orientalism (book) - Wikipedia

While Orientalism, as pursued by Said, focuses on the British colonies in the late 18th and 19th centuries and on literary and cultural productions, Occidentalism in the Americas focuses on the European colonies in the so-called New World, takes the European Conquest of 1492 as a starting point, and has a stronger economic and political focus on cultural productions of self and alterity.
